

MHPVA Photo Gallery

MHPVA 1999 Waterford Rally Photos

Three P-38's in a row. From left to right: Paul Pancella, Bob Krzewinski and Wally Kiehler

Bill Frey of Grosse Pointe Farms has been riding this production Tour Easy since 1984, and uses it for commuting to work, short tours and occasional racing, including at the 1999 Michigan HPV Rally shown here. He estimates he has ridden his recumbent bicycle about 15,000 miles in the 15 years he has owned it.

James Curry of Zionsville, Indiana raced one of three Infinity Banshees in the modified class at the 1999 Michigan HPV Rally, which he won. The Banshees, made in Mooresville, Ind., all have front-wheel-drive.

Doug Pertner's faired bicycle

Jeff Potter of Williamston, Michigan now owns the WISIL Missile, built by members of the Wisconsin-Illinois chapter of the Human Powered Vehicle Association. He and Tim Feldkamp (shown here) took turns racing it at the 1999 Michigan HPV Rally.

Jon Stinson of Whitmore Lake, Michigan has been racing his homebuilt streamliner since 1993. He finished second in the modified class at the 1999 Michigan HPV Rally